OUR GOALS

We are Nick and Kelly, the creators of Sailing Satori, a lifestyle blog. We are documenting our travels on our sailboat "Satori" through the Caribbean and beyond as well as flying to other destinations in the world. Both having a thirst for adventure, we want to collect experiences while immersing ourselves in different cultures. We also want to educate and inspire others to create and follow their dreams. This is why we've decided to share our lives through video, pictures, articles, and social media. In 2019, our goal is to strengthen our web and blog presence.
